Marblehead beach, (Mass.). Stayed with N. P. Rogers. "He is a charming man-as a companion I hardly know a man with superior endowments." Refers to the mob that attacked the writer in Concord, N.H. "Poor Whittier was compelled to receive a tithe of the vengeance accumulated for me." Disagrees with the Boston Gazette that the press is mainly opposed to the Abolitionists. The N.Y. Evening Post, N.Y. Sun and others are Anti-Slavery. The Boston Courier is undecided which way to turn. Its editor, J. T. Buckingham, "evidently cares little for the South." A Southern newspaper hints that the slaveholders may resort to assassination. G. T. commends W.L.G.'s course. A strong opponent of G. T., Wilbur Fisk, is going to England to raise money for Wesleyan University. Will write to the English Abolitionists about him.

Has arranged to sail by the Champlain; details the cost of the passage for wife, children, servant and himself. Has delivered the addressee's trunk and letter to the steward on board the Algonquin. Referring to the New York newspapers, the writer expresses an optimistic view of the riots, which prove nothing but a pretext for thieves and ruffians to plunder with impunity. Hopes the Abolitionists may remain firm. Is anxious to hear from the addressee before he sails. Sends regards to William Smith.

Mr. Garrison seriously contemplates giving up the paper because of financial difficulties, particularly the large number of subscribers who are in arrears with their payment. The writer is willing to make every possible sacrifice to save the paper and details his own devices for helping it. To Whom?

? .. Sends copy of a speech by Thomas Clarkson intended for delivery at the opening of the Convention of 1840; the writer has marked the passages "which were omitted at the earnest request of Joseph Sturge" and others. The Glasgow society has taken notice of the conduct of the Free Churches in regard to money accepted from slaveholders. The free traders are rejoicing at the defeat of Henry Clay. The writer is occupied mainly with Indian affairs.

To "My Dear Friend" A. W. Weston

Syracuse, N.Y. The writer tells of speaking to a convention in Peterboro, N.Y. F. Douglass praised his speech. Spent the day at the house of Gerrit Smith, whom he praises. Met S. S. Foster at Canastota, N.Y., who wished the writer would "stay and be mobbed with him that evening." He declined and proceeded to Syracuse where he was met by S. J. May, whose home he describes. Gives the high light of the Syracuse meeting which included introducing five fugitive slaves to those present. R. Purvis brought three of them. The audience showed disapproval of the Fugitive Slave law.

To "My dear Friend" Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman,

Library of the House of Commons, (London). The writer sympathizes with the addressee for the affliction caused by the tidings she received from America. The writer had determined not to attend the meeting at Exeter Hall. He begins tomorrow a series of meetings with his constituents which will demand all his strength. He would not have the requisite state of mind if he had last evening begun "a war of extermination against the pretenders and deceivers of Broad St." The writer wishes to entertain the addressee and her party at his house.

To Helen Eliza (Penson) Garrison

No. 46 A

c6 Guildford Terrace, South Lambeth, London. Describes W.L.G.'s life in England. Hopes that nothing will thwart W.L.G.'s plans. Sympathizes with Mrs. G. in her suffering from paralysis. Regrets that he was unable to put up W.L.G. and his party at his home. Mentions W.L.G.'s plan to visit Mrs. E. (P.) Nichol. Had to get the house into which his wife had moved into good running order. He is not well. Mentions his wife and daughters, one of whom has gone to a concert with Fanny (G.) Villard. Was sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. W. A. (W.) Johnson. "I am already longing to return to the United States."

[Fort Columbus, Governor's Island, New York Harbor.] Does possess some letters from Robert Southey but would not part with the originals; nor has she the time for copying extracts from them. Does not know of anyone who might be likely to possess letters from him unless it were the Rev. Dr. Hawks of N.Y. Has a letter from Mrs. Southey who can tell Wordsworth that she would not give up a private letter to be used for any purpose. Believes that a biography of Southey could be best presented by extracts from his writings with a few simple statements of the facts of his life. Reports that Southey never used the title which belonged to him as doctor of laws. A.L.S. 2p. 10 x 8 in.
